

Research indicates that school climate can either be a positive influence on students' learning environment, or can serve as a significant barrier to students' learning. Indeed, students at schools with high levels of economic disadvantage and were high performing had higher ratings of 2011-2012 behavioral environment (3.04) than students at lower performing high economically disadvantaged schools (2.93).* Researchers have documented that positive ratings of student climate are believed to contribute to factors that help high economically disadvantaged schools "beat the odds" (Voight, Austin & Hanson, 2013).

The following tables show the total number of surveys students at O Henry returned in 2012-2013 (Table 1), the response rate by grade (Table 2), and the distribution of responses by race/ethnicity compared with the population (Table 3) for students at O Henry.

Population data reflect enrollment as of the PEIMS snapshot date in October 2012 whereas students' grade level and ethnicity were self-reported on the survey. The "ethnicity/race" designations allow students to first choose their ethnicity (Hispanic/Latino or non-Hispanic/Latino) and then choose one or more of five race values.

Figure 1 depicts O Henry's average student climate survey ratings for 2012-2013, compared with average ratings across all Middle Schools in 2012-2013. Scores over 3.0 are desirable, as indicated by the green line. Please note the green and red text boxes that highlight the specific area in which O Henry most excels, as well as the area in which O Henry can improve most.

O Henry's highest score on the 2012-2013 Student Climate Survey was for teacher expectations, which measures students' perceptions of their teachers' expectations. Please think about what your campus does to foster high expectations, and share your strategies with others.

O Henry's lowest score on the 2012-2013 Student Climate Survey was for student engagement. This subscale measures the extent to which students enjoy their schoolwork and learning. We encourage your campus to improve the ways in which teachers provide instruction that is relevant and engaging for students.

The following pages contain more detailed information regarding O Henry's student climate results from 2010-2011 to 2012-2013. Please review the individual items on each subscale with particular attention to how O Henry's average ratings have changed or remained consistent over time. Please note that some subscales have changed from previous years, making longitudinal comparisons inappropriate for some items and subscales. For items and subscales where longitudinal data are available, statistically meaningful changes are noted with up or down arrows. Please share the results of this report with all campus staff and your Campus Advisory Council to inform campus improvement planning.
